The CHRONICLE

In Memoriam

Mr. Richard Fitzgerald

In memory of our beloved science teacher.

"If I can keep one heart from breaking
I shall not live in vain;
If I can ease one life the aching
Or cool one pain,
If I can ease another's burden
And bring a smile again
I shall not live in vain."

Dick Fitzgerald lived life to its fullest even when an impassable barrier blocked the way. His was a philosophy of driving on ever toward tomorrow in spite of the fact that he realized that the night was just ahead.

Dick visited my office one day last November with the heart-breaking news that the doctor had predicted that a dread malady might soon claim his life. He was discouraged and downhearted and yet he said, "George, I'm going on living as if nothing were wrong. If my days are numbered, I will need to live a lifetime in a few short months."

Dick seldom complained. He enjoyed life and the profession of teaching. He loved young people and wanted to do all that was possible to bring wisdom and understanding to those whom he served. His interest in the activities of young people is well known at Lyman Hall. He was ever willing to help no matter what the job might be. His kindly smile, his words of guidance, his brave spirit will long be remembered.

We shall all miss Dick, and yet the sorrow at his passing is somewhat tempered by the mark he has left behind. Our heartfelt sympathy is extended to Mrs. Fitzgerald and the three children. May God be with you and comfort you.

—George D. Stevens

Mr. George D. Stevens

To you, George D. Stevens, we, the Class of 1958, dedicate our yearbook in sincere gratitude for all your services to the school and to our class.

Barry Farnham, President of the Student Council

SCHOOL DEDICATION

On December 1, 1957, Lyman Hall High School was officially dedicated. The architectural beauty and symmetrical planning of this ultra-modern educational edifice was opened for viewing to the populace. Intellectual pursuit has taken a stride forward in this community. The newly erected structure simply foreshadows the high degree of educational program offered to pupils in preparation for life or college.

Langdon D. Fernald, Principal

Commissioner William Sanders

SENIOR CLASS PRESIDENT

David S. Engstrom

Dear Classmates,

The time has come to leave Lyman Hall, our beloved high school. Here we have received instructions in essential subjects, experiences in working together, and training for our future positions in life. I am assured that we shall all endeavor to do our part as citizens and leaders in our community and country. We must now use the skills that we have learned and build upon these so that we can do our part in this world to achieve peace and prosperity.

I was honored to serve the class as your president, attempting to solve the problems we met and in representing you to the best of my ability. It was a pleasure working for you and with you.

I hope that you will reach your goals in life and I wish you the best of health. May God be with you wherever you go.

Sincerely yours,

David Engstrom

Building lays the foundations for Lyman Hall's future scientists and mathematicians.

In A Building the Math Department is first in the long line which develops our future scientists. The Math Department is furnished with the most modern devices and the ablest teachers to present the fundamentals of mathematics.

Farther on, the scientific subjects are being taught to acquaint the students with all aspects of the scientific field. Both the biological and the physical sciences are studied by all students in modern labs and classrooms where study periods, work periods, and experiments are being carried on always.

SCIENCE CLUB

The main objective of the Science Club, formed this year, was to permit any students to apply acquired fundamentals in the field of their own choosing, either Physical, Chemical, or Biological. Each group is under the guidance of a specialized Science teacher.

For further understanding of scientific funda-mentals, these objectives are supplemented by Audio-Visual Programs, field-trips and visiting speakers.

The Science Club has sponsored the Science
Fair and will endeavor to start an annual science trip to places of scientific value.

Building creates the cultural background for all students at Lyman Hall. It is here that boys and girls develop their minds in the fields of English, foreign language, and history.

Under the capable direction of qualified teachers, students become acquainted with all phases of the modern cultural fields.

Upon the student's entrance into B Building, the history department enables him to procure a complete knowledge of historical facts. Modern books, recordings, and equipment enable him to completely understand the historical subjects.

Continuing onward, the English Department prepares him for his literary and grammatical achievement. Teachers with a wide background and experience present the subject in an interesting and unforgettable manner.

Finally in the students' quest for cultural knowledge, foreign languages prepare him to meet all the standards in this area.

Building is perhaps the busiest of all in school life. It is here that students enjoy the delicious foods of the cafeteria staff, romp about the gym performing antics of sportsmen, and make use of study periods preparing assignments.

As one approaches D Building along a long, glass-walled ramp, the fragrances of prepared foods float about the air.

As the student by-passes the cafeteria, he notices the industrious struggles of schoolmates preparing for forthcoming classes in the quiet and familiar study periods.

On continuing his walk, the gymnasium comes into view. It is here that students get the exercise necessary to enjoy a healthy life. The gym is also the scene of our basketball teams' many victories, our proms, and school dances.

It is here in D Building that the student comes to learn more than just the scholastic subjects.

The 1957 Lyman Hall football team had a good year ending the season with a respectable record of 3 wins and 3 losses. The team, led by Co-Captains Bill Gannon and Bob Popovich, opened the season by beating Amity Regional by the score of 22 to 7. The team dropped its next two games and the game with Shelton High was postponed because of the flu epidemic. Lyman Hall returned to the football wars, after a three week absence, with a single-wing formation and defeated previously undefeated East Haven High. This was the highpoint of the season.

The following week they defeated North Haven in a rainstorm, but ended the season on a sour note losing to Derby by the score of 19 to 9.

A great deal of credit must go to the fine coaching staff: Mr. Walter Schipke, Mr. Fitzsimmons, Mr. Riccitelli and Mr. Pilichowski. Without these men and their advice the season couldn't have been a success. The Tri-Captains for next year's team are: Don Warzocha, Don Curtis and Jim Bilyak.

BASKETBALL VARSITY

The 1957-1958 Lyman Hall basketball team had a fine season, winning 16 games and losing only 3. The team led by co-captains Dick Grana and Bill Gannon won its first six games before bowing to Seymour 47-46. The team rebounded from this loss to win its next five games before being overpowered by East Haven. During this five game winning streak the team found another scorer in Don Warzocha and a rugged rebounder in Gene Sullivan. After the East Haven defeat the Trojans climbed back on the victory wagon and won their next four games before bowing to East Haven again by the score of 49-47 in overtime. This might have been a different game but co-captain Dick Grana injured his elbow in the second quarter and never returned to action.

The Trojans qualified for the C.I.A.C. Class B tourney, but entered the tourney without the services of co-captain Bill Gannon who was struck by sickness. Lyman Hall beat Simsbury in its first game 63-43 but bowed to East Haven in the quarter-finals 68-50.

The Most Valuable Player Award went to Bill Gannon, and Don Curtis was elected captain of the 1958-1959 basketball team.

Third row: Frank Maresca, James Lindsay, Ted Fritz, Paul Bercier, Robert Butler. Managers Philip Carter and James Konopka. Coach John Riccitelli.

Unlike last year when Coach Schipke welcomed back twelve lettermen, Mr. Riccitelli could only extend open arms for three. These were Co-Captains Joe Wilkinson and Harold Battis plus Billy Gannon. The coach, however, was able to greet many players who had played J.V. ball the year before, and many sophomore candidates. The strongest part of the Lyman Hall team is the left hand side where Co-Captain Joe Wilkinson has the third base job, Billy Gannon patrols the shortstop position, and "Champ" Battis takes care of left field. On the right hand side of the diamond Gene Valenti and Mark Klausner have the inside lane to the second and first base jobs respectively.

Building houses the offices of our able administration, guidance labs, and publication and conference rooms.

It is here in E Building that the basis of school activity develops. Our principal, Langdon D. Fernald, carries on the tasks of running our school. He is assisted by George D. Stevens, Vice-Principal, and Alexander E. Carter, Director of Adult Education. With the aid of the competent office staff, all records and schedules are prepared and kept.

Our guidance directors, Ethel Kennedy and James P. Quinn, are always at hand to help and guide students in seeking goals for the future.

Another part of E Building is the publications room. The newspaper and yearbook had its beginnings with the aid of the devices and the use of this room.

Building E is in constant use by all students and teachers to ensure them of the most valuable plannings in school life.

The Student Council is the student governing body of Lyman Hall High School. The purpose of this organization is to establish better relationships between the student and the faculty, improve school conditions, and to promote school spirit.

The council is composed of twelve seniors, eleven juniors, and ten sophomores, who are elected each year by their respective classes. This organization holds its meetings periods four and eighteen.

During the year the council engaged itself in many projects. At all home basketball games, the members sold candy and soda. A committee was set up to look into the changing of the lunch periods in the new school system. Names were chosen by the council which were voted on by the student body for the school nickname. The auditorium committee arranged for several council-sponsored programs. Council members also participated in providing leadership in keeping the school neat, and the regulation of traffic in the halls.

Standing: Kathy Rizzo, Robert Kaprinski, Gail Sittnick.

The Lyman Hall Chapter of the National Honor Society, formed in 1955, is readily becoming more and more a part of the Lyman Hall scene. It is an organization which promotes scholastic honors, good service, character, and leadership. Only by succeeding in all these traits can a student become a member.

The group holds its induction ceremonies twice a year under the sponsorship of Miss Kennedy. Upon election to the society, each member receives a gold pin and membership card which signifies his achievement.

The National Honor Society tries to leave a lasting influence on its members to always uphold the ideals for which the society stands, disregarding where he will go or what he will become.

Building builds the beginnings of our future secretaries. The building is devoted to typing, office practice, and stenography classes together with the regular classrooms.

With the most practical and modern equipment, students are being prepared to meet the standards of office routines. Much study and concentration is given by students in order that they benefit the most that is possible by this specialized area.

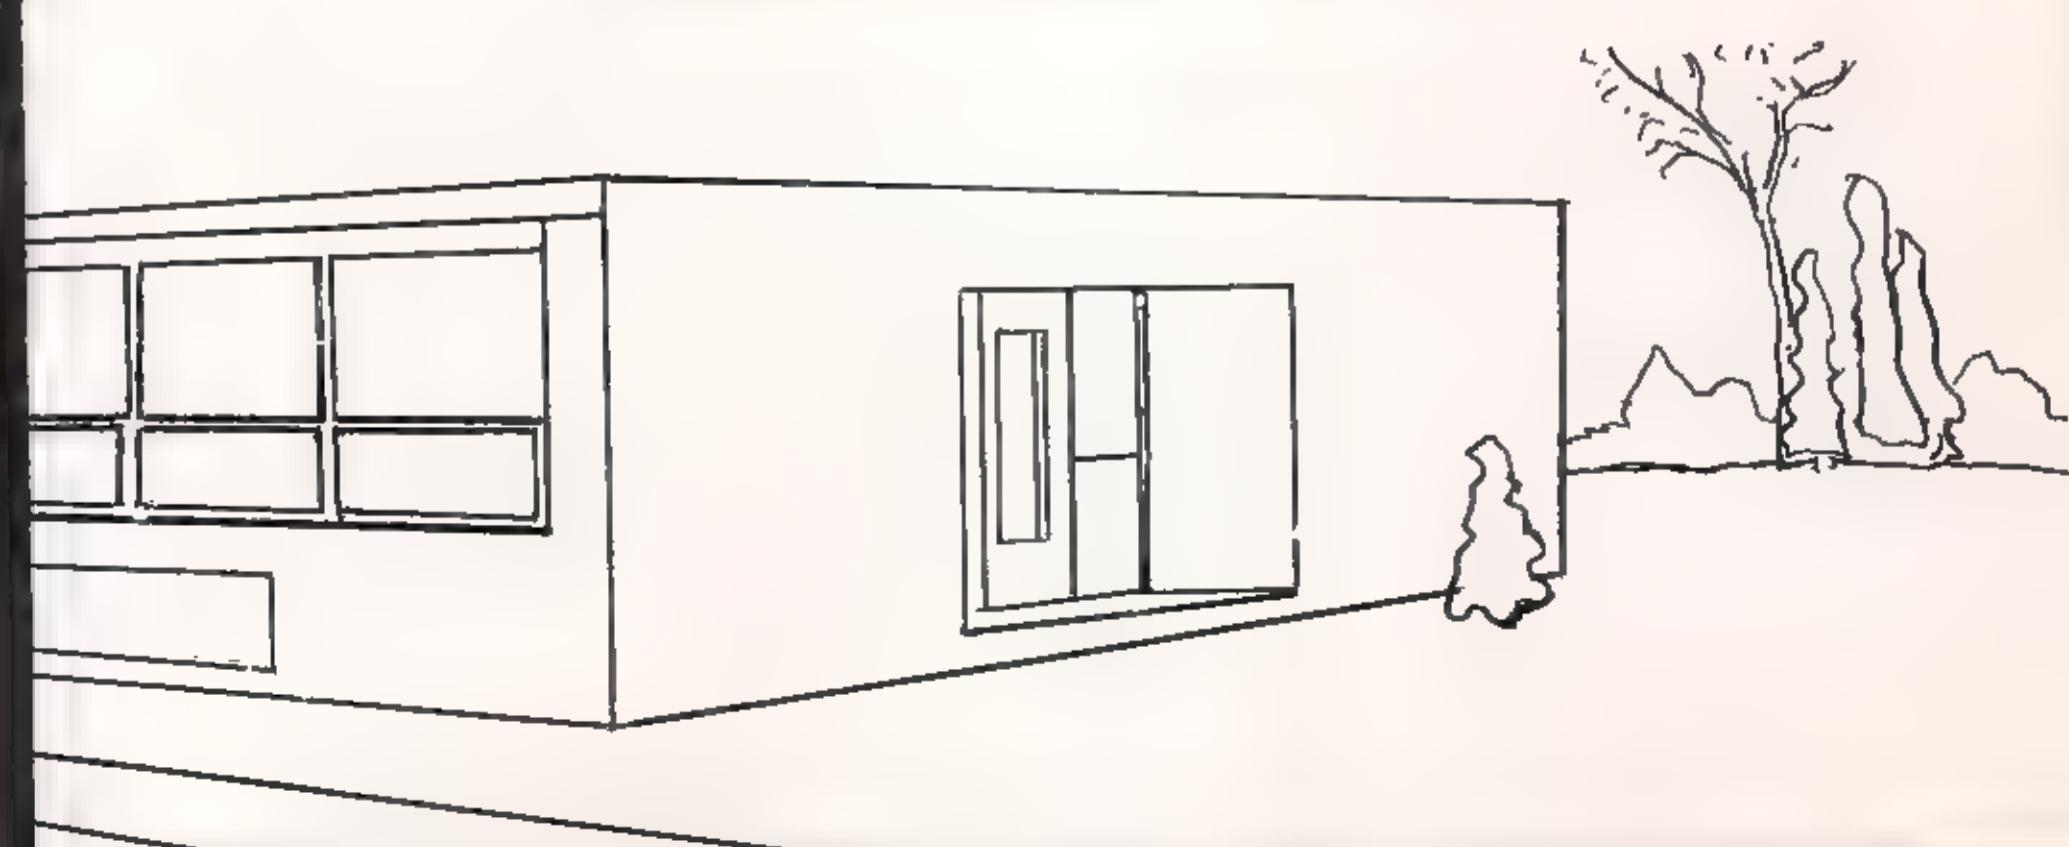

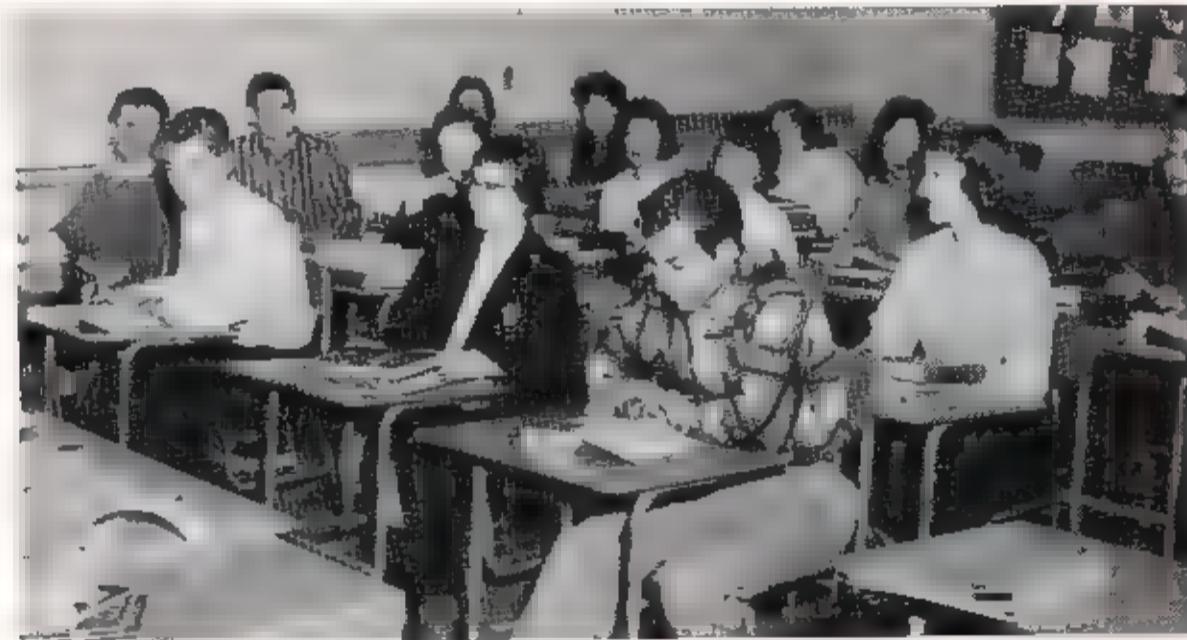

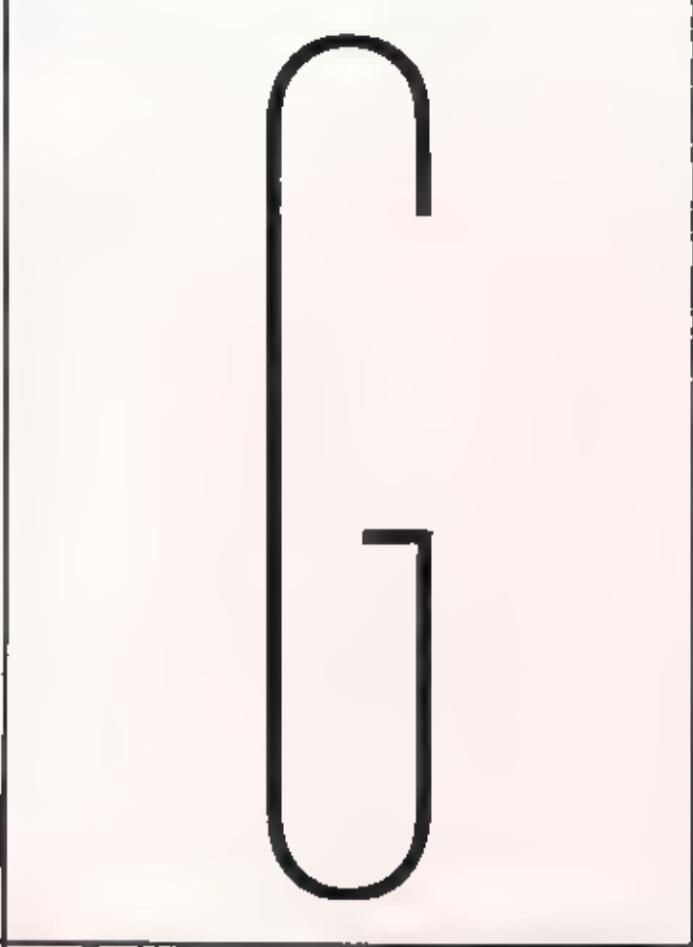

F BUILDING FACULTY

Faculty, First row: Miss Cecelia Moran, Mrs. Ruthe McCabe, Miss Frances Gracia, Miss Ellen Disken.

Second row: Mr. Martin Graicerstein, Mrs. Helen Beretz, Mr. Regal Dorsey

Missing: Mr. John Mitchell.

Building with its complete and modern equipment enables students to develop a background of the arts. Music, art, and homemaking are the keynotes to G Building.

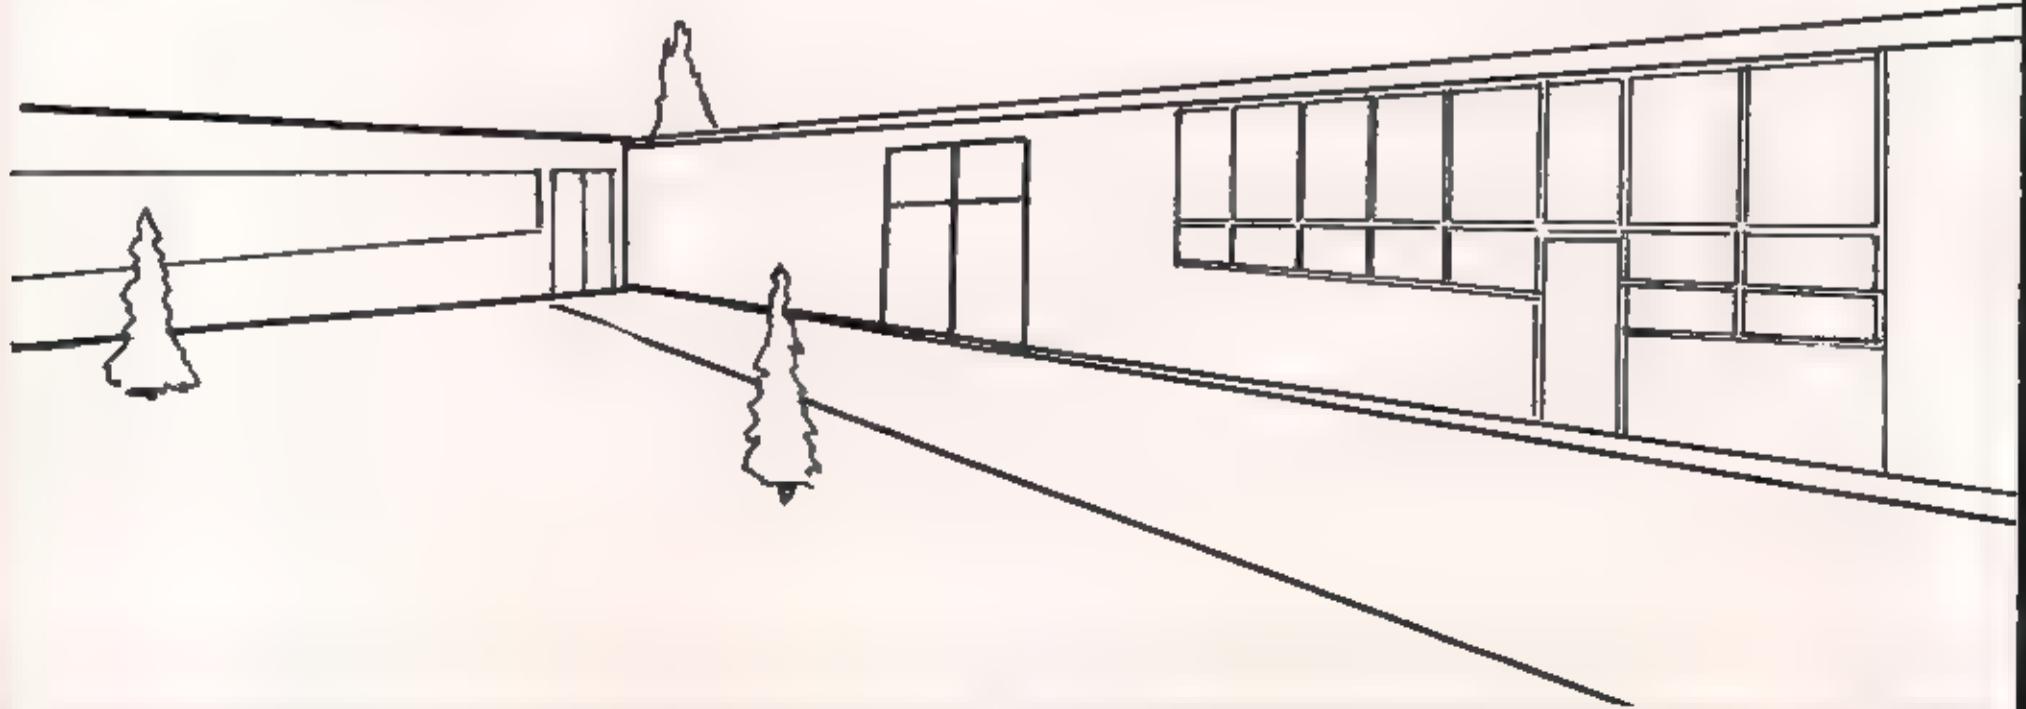

The homemaking department is fully prepared to instruct boys and girls in the basic and more advanced principles of cooking and sewing. In the cooking department complete meals as well as delicacies are fully prepared and eaten by the students. Many types of clothing are put together in the sewing division of this department.

The art department contains all necessary utensils of the artists. All scenery for stage productions and dances, artistic drawings in the literary magazines, and creative displays throughout the school, have their beginnings in the art department.

The music department is the largest of all. The band, orchestra, and chorus hold all practice sessions in G Building. The practice studios are in constant use enabling students to further their study of music.

Another feature of G Building is the modern and spacious auditorium. Complete with modern acoustic equipment, the auditorium is an ideal place for all types of entertainment and business procedures. It is the scene of our plays, musical productions, and school assemblies.

Without the facilities of G Building, the art department, producing works of art; the homemaking department, preparing the future home-makers; and the music department, entertaining everyone; would have no place as fully equipped in order to further their plans.

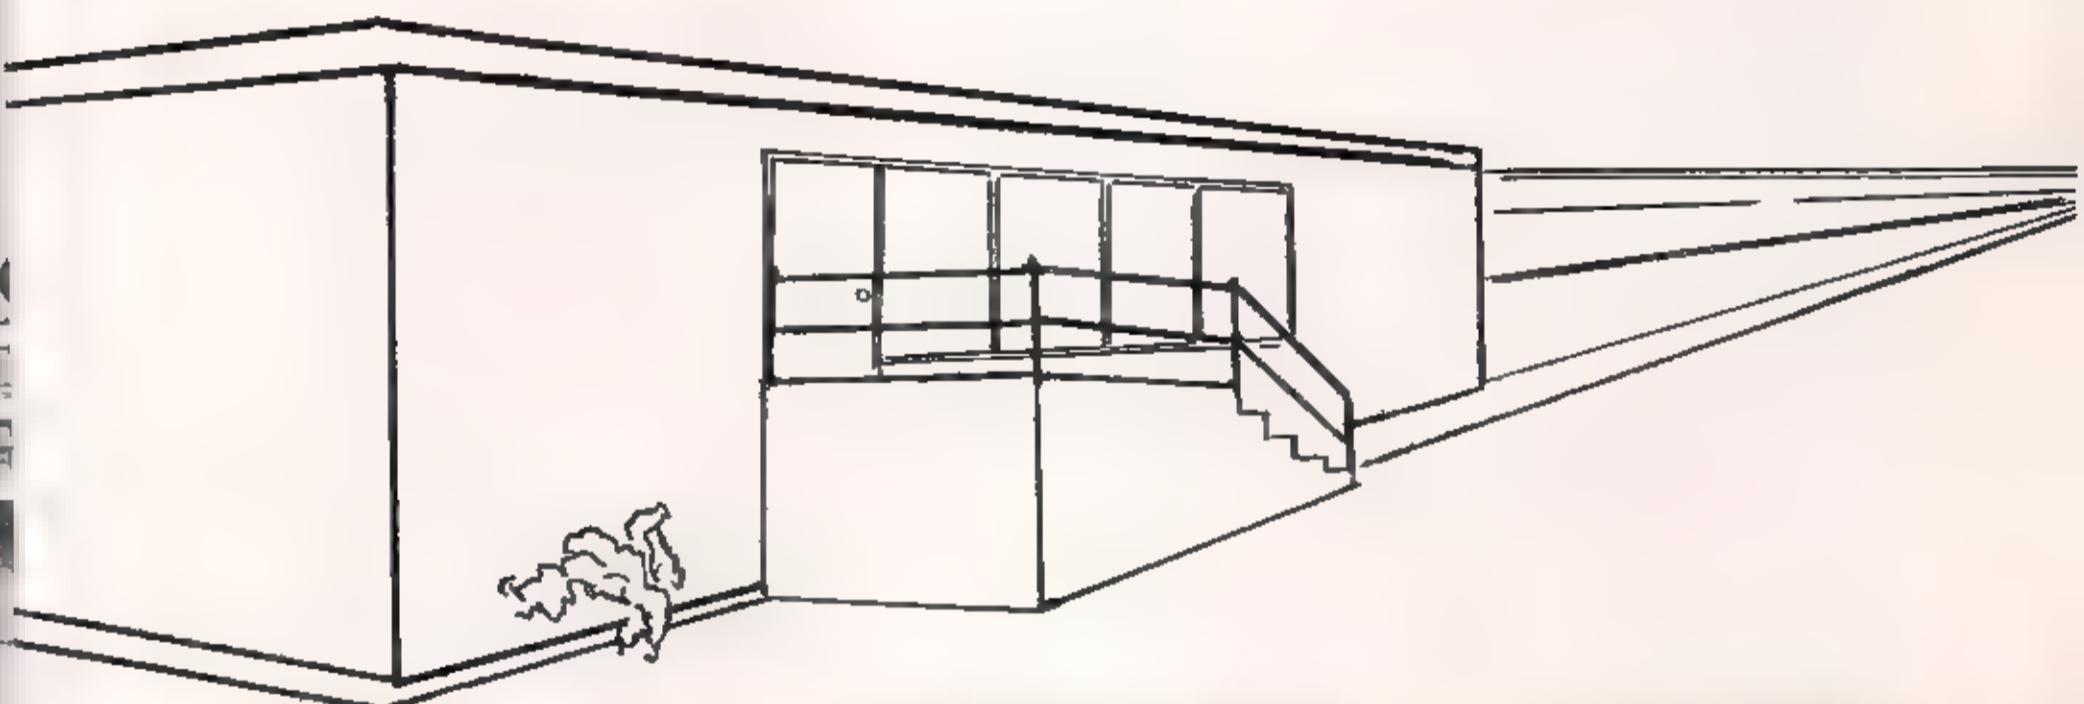

G BUILDING FACULTY

Faculty, Sitting: Mrs. Mary Lee McAlister, Miss Edna Wilcox, Miss Joan Walters, Mrs. Sally Coleman.

Standing: Mr. Harold Crump, Dr. Richard Otto, Mr. Harley Flaws, Mr. Jordon Abeshouse.

Missing: Miss Mary Ann Scalise, Mr. Lawrence Vitali.

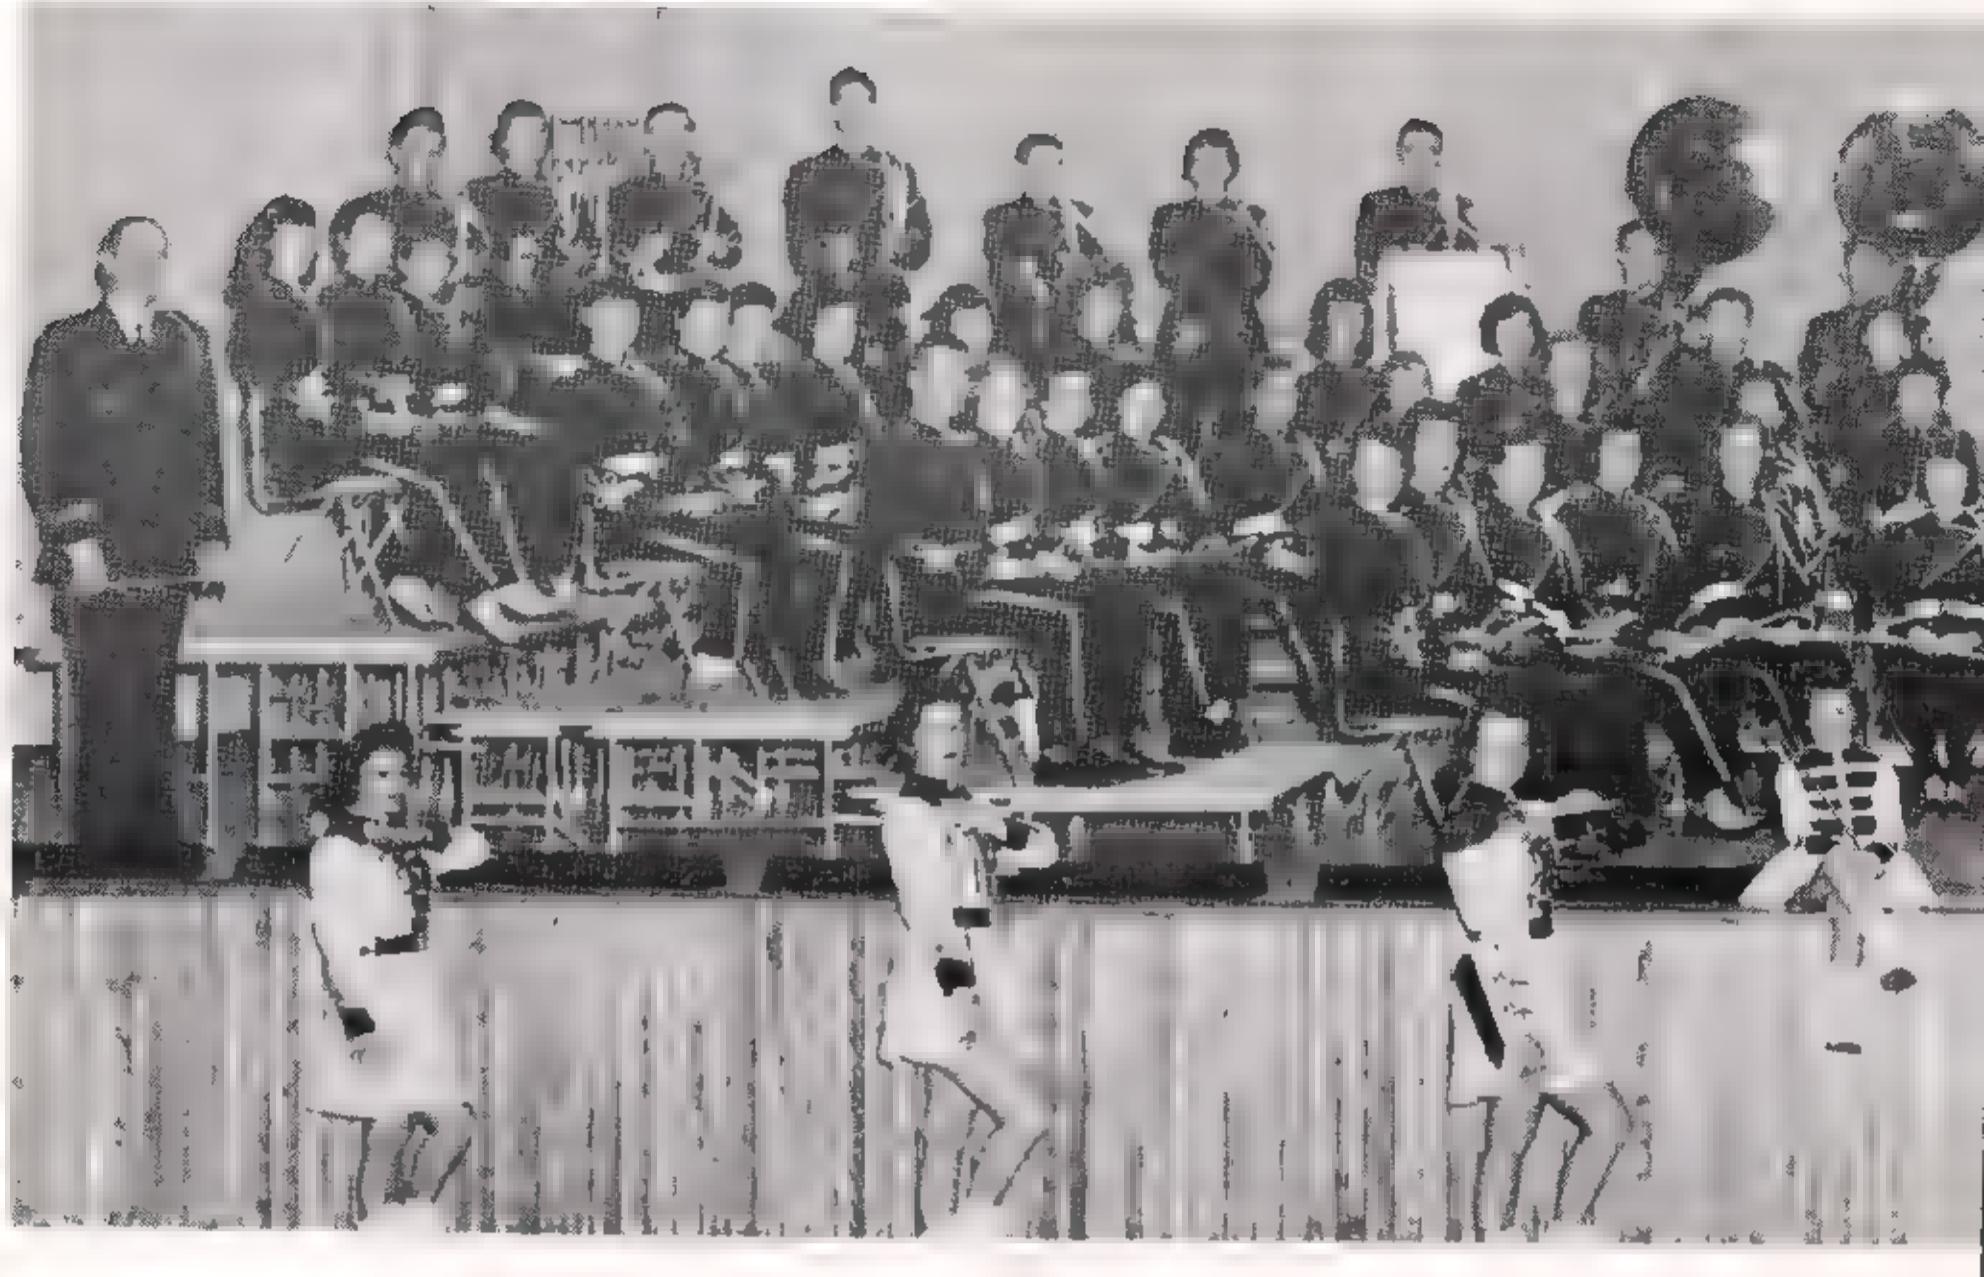

The new building lends a perfect atmosphere to the band. In October the band played at the football games that everyone enjoyed. Some members of the band participated in the All-State festival. Other activities of the year included several music assemblies before the student body, the Midwinter Concert, the Pops Concert, the Spring Concert, the Memorial Day parade, and the Doolittle Park Concert in June.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

The Class of '59, under the direction of Malcolm P. White, presented "Skyrocket to Glory," a three-act comedy on November 21 and 22.

The storyline followed the rise of a young naive Kentucky boy from rags to riches in the big city.

The cast consisted of Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors. In order of appearance: Mrs. Carvell, Judy Buttner; Mordacar Carvell, Frank Aquilera; Randy Carvell, James Orefice; Irene Catrelle, Carol Swenberg, Cassie Brashiers, Lynne DuPlessis; Nancy Travers, Patricia Tessmer; Aunt Guss Catrelle, Beverly Calza; Sam Goldstein, Robert Asman; Reporters, Allyn Golub, Sandra Rosenblatt, Richard Barberi, and Elizabeth Gautreau. Prompter was Roberta Gilbert.

The General Chairman, David Gay, and his committees, united to make the play a great success.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

The Class of '58 sponsored "Outward Bound," a three-act drama by Sutton Vane, on March 21 and 22. The play was directed by Mr. Malcolm P. White, dramatic coach, and head of the school's new dramatic classes. The general chairman, Pat Tessner, was assisted by several committees to make the play a success.

The cast included: Scrubby, Frank Aquilera; Ann, Elizabeth Gautreau; Henry, Ralph Server; Mr. Prior, Barry Farnham; Mrs. Cliveden-Banks, Diane Stevens; Rev. William Duke, James Orefice; Mrs. Midget, Judy Doran; Mr. Lingley, Robert Asman; and Rev. Frank Thomson, Allyn Golub. The prompter was Judy Buttner.

Building extends along a sun-lighted corridor from the end of G Building. As you approach the end of the ramp, you are able to see all of the materials of mechanical drawing. It is here that plans for woodworking are made. Foundations are built here for future engineers and architects.

Upon descending from the main corridor, auto mechanics and drivers' education classes are seen. Drivers' education is one of the new courses offered this year with the opening of the new school.

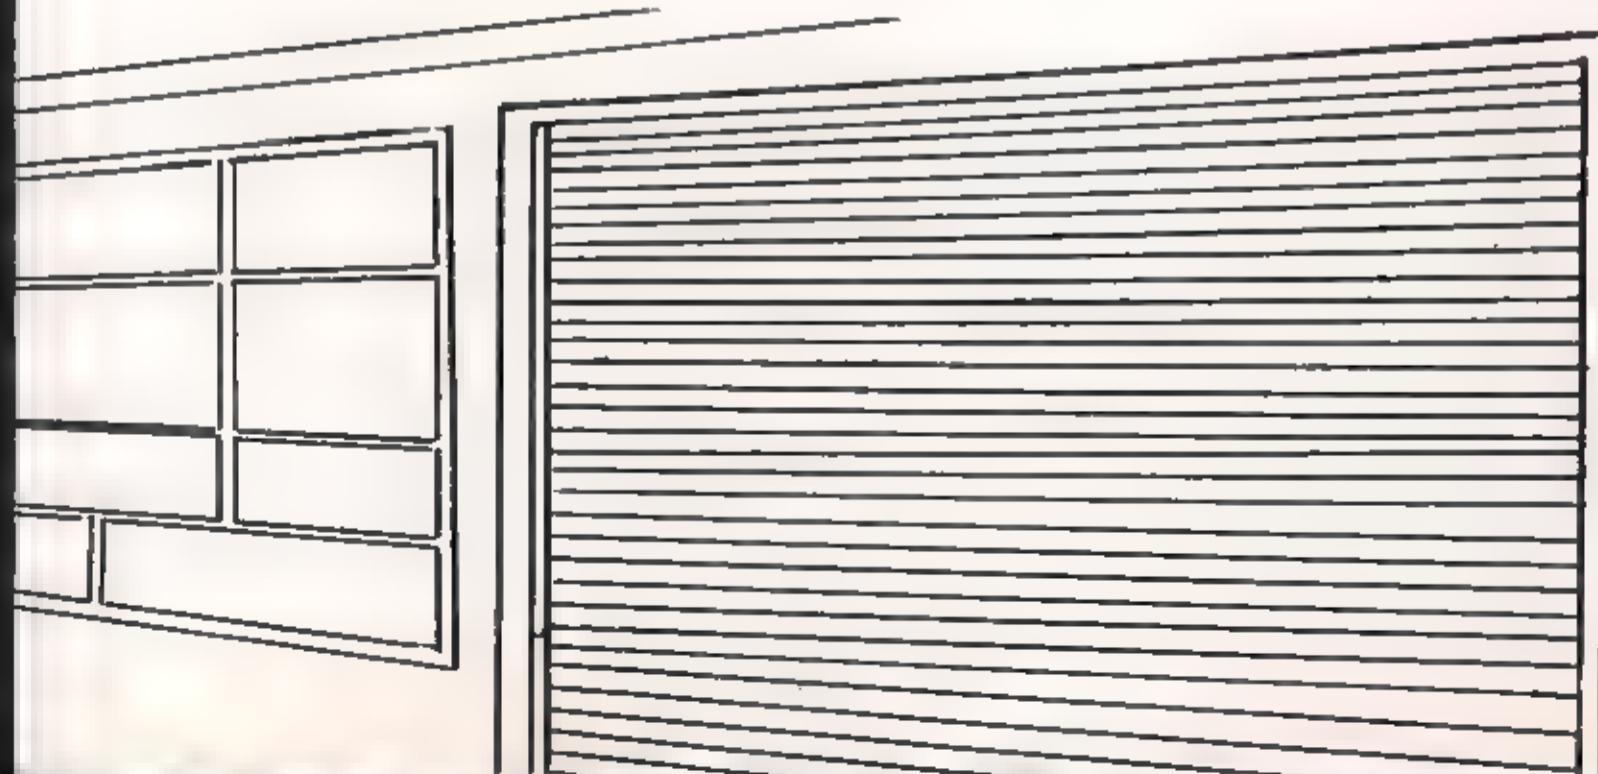

Farther on, woodworking and shop classes are in progress, producing many works of art for the home.

Indeed H Building lays the foundations for all of the students mechanically minded.

CLASS HISTORY

We, the future leaders of the world, pause to look back on the exuberance with which we forged through our last four unforgettable years at Lyman Hall. Unfazed by Latin declensions, Geometry theorems, or Chemistry formulas, we pushed onward, ever onward toward the apex of learning . . . graduation.

On a certain rainy day in September of '54, a casual observer would have noticed a motley crew of timid youths awaiting their sentence for education in the first degree: four years hard labor.

But high school isn't all work, and after a month's introduction to school books, October rolled out her annual Halloween party for us jubilant freshmen. Planned by the Halloween Committee — among them, Eleanor Thurrott, Betty Sommers, Art Cella, Elaine Quinn, and Dick Grana — and M.C.'d by Art Cella and Jim Desrosiers, our first social event at L.H. was a riotous success. To top the evening, the judges selected Bruce Marquardt, Barry Farnham, and Angela Smith to carry away the prizes.

As the year rolled on, and we were sternly concentrating on studies, Patty Dighello and Barry Farnham were appointed Freshmen Literary Chronicle editors.

Spring came and went and before we knew it, it was June. Now with our Freshman year behind us, we looked forward to ten weeks of welcome parole with the responsibilities of school work back in the inner recesses of our minds.

By now experienced Hallites, we awaited entering the second phase of our education as Sophomores.

Getting quickly into the swing of things, we elected as Sophomore representatives to the Student Council: Betty Sommers, Joan Watson, Martha Rose, Gail Sittnick, Jean Fanfetti, Pete Jasinski, Jim Desrosiers, Ralph Server, Barry Farnham, and Bruce Marquardt. In the same month, Pete Jasinski was appointed Sophomore literary editor of the Chronicle.

With our year half-way over, Basketball came into the spotlight, and along with it two brilliant new varsity players, Bill Gannon and Dick Grana, who were destined to be two of the best all around ball players at L.H. . . . and we feel of the state.

Cheering along and watching Bill and Dick rise rapidly in the basketball picture were the newly chosen J.V. Cheerleaders: Jan Morin, Pat Mulvey, Marty Rose, and Betty Sommers.

Under the direction of Betty Sommers, as General Chairman, the Sophomore Dance was held in the old Lyman Hall gym swinging and swaying to the beat of our own records. It was an informal gathering, so a good time was at hand.

Now was the time for all young men's fancies to turn to their first love — not girls, but baseball. After a hard-fought season, the team tied for first place in the Houstonic League, in this, our Sophomore year.

As the long summer stretched before us, we anticipated the last ringing of the bell.

Soon refreshed from a season of loafing and other various activities, we returned triumphantly to the relic on Main Street entering the select group of renown people — upperclassmen.

Exchanging our watches for alarm clocks and buying a new supply of guaranteed "eye-opener" toothpicks, we stumbled through the wee hours of the morning accustoming ourselves to the new routine.

Finally settled down, one of the first duties of our class was to elect four of our classmates to lead us through the year. We selected as President, Barry Farnham; Vice-President, Joan Watson; Secretary, Betty Sommers; Treasurer, Janet Morin.

About the time of elections, we, as Juniors, tried our hand at putting on our first play, "Come Rain or Shine." Under the able direction of our dramatic coach, Miss Ruth Dunlap, the play provided a hilarious evening.

Football also came into the picture and even though the team opened with a slow start, they ended with a triumphant win over North Haven. Later, the football team elected Bob Popovich and Bill Gannon to lead the team in our Senior year.

Along with the Junior year, came the responsibility of selecting our class ring. Chosen to lead us in picking the rings were Liz Gautreau, Jan Caswell, Marilyn Vass, Craig Self, and Gerri Loncola. These five people also helped select our class flower and colors; carnation and black and mint green, respectively. "Not the end but the beginning" was designated to be the motto.

In the 1956-57 basketball season, L.H. turned in many sterling performances, topped off by a win over highly favored East Haven by a score of 52-47. Thus we broke East Haven's 92 game win streak.

After winning a crucial game at North Haven, L.H. qualified for the Class B Interscholastic Tournament. Thought by many as an underdog, we turned in one of our best performances of the year by mopping up an oversized Woodrow Wilson 73-46. However, in the last playoff game of the year, we were edged out of the quarter finals by a score of 56-54 by Seymour.

After this season, Bill Gannon and Dick Grana were the logical choices to lead the 1957-58 aggression.

Our minds now turned to social life. We, as Juniors, presented our Prom under the guidance of Sally Stevens, general chairman. Angela Smith, Decorations Chairman, led her committee to set a mood of an "Oriental Evening." Other committee chairmen were Allyn Golub, Band Chairman; Pat Dighello, programs; and Diane Stevens and Pat Powers, refreshments. This prom was the last event we, as a class, held in the beloved, old school.

At a class meeting toward the end of the school year, Alan Drescher was chosen to be photo editor of the class book.

As the year closed we looked to what our Senior year would hold in store for us and we turned in our books for tennis rackets and baseball bats.

Upon entering our Senior year, it was very reminiscent of our freshman year. Once more, we were surrounded by unfamiliar faces, walls, and teachers. However, after a few days of complete bedlam, we began to adjust to the new atmosphere.

Realizing that in a large school as ours, we would need strong leaders to unify it, we elected Dave "Peach" Engstrom, Mayor; Dick "Zola" Grana, Alderman; Sally Stevens, Bookkeeper; and Jan "Porky" Morin, Tax Collector.

To the amazement of many, our '57 football squad came through with the best season L.H. has ever enjoyed since 1949. The outstanding game of the football year was the stunning upset of East Haven by L.H. before a crowd of excited fans.

Getting together early in the fall, the staff of the yearbook: Kathy Rizzo, Editor; Mim Bailey, Assistant Editor; Joan Furman, Literary Editor; and Pat Tessmer, Art Editor; were working hard to put our class book together.

About this time, we were looking forward to our Senior Prom and the crowning of our class Queen. The dance came out well under the capable hands of Betty Sommers, General Chairman; Fran Czechowski, invitations; Louise Perrault, band and programs chairman; Diane Stevens, refreshments. Eleanor Thurrott designed the program for the dance.

As suspense mounted, we watched Janet Morin crowned by Mr. Fernald with Sally Stevens and Betty Sommers forming a pretty pair of attendants.

Soon after the dance, Gail Sittnick acquired honors by her first place "I speak for Democracy" speech.

Our heads again turned to basketball as the '58 season got under way with a smash victory over Cheshire High School. Lyman Hall got off to a fast start and defeated many of the opposing teams who challenged her. Witnessing two heartbreaking losses from East Haven and Seymour, we still qualified for the Tournament as the dark horse against Simsbury High. We were forced to play without the sparkplug of the team, Bill Gannon, which placed the team at a decided disadvantage. After getting away with this win over Simsbury, L.H. was up against East Haven High in the quarter finals, again without our mainstay, Bill Gannon. Consequently, we ended the season by a heartbreaker from the Easties.

While we were plugging behind our team, four boys, Bill Bayne, Neill Buckley, "Ticky" Gay, led by senior Charlie Swenberg, were busily working on their "project Alpha." They were guests at the naval base in Virginia one weekend to test their rocket. Even though it failed, it showed the work and interest these boys had in the field of science. They gained much valuable experience and soon started working on a second rocket.

Around the same eventful month, Sally Stevens was elected as the honored girl to receive the D.A.R. award.

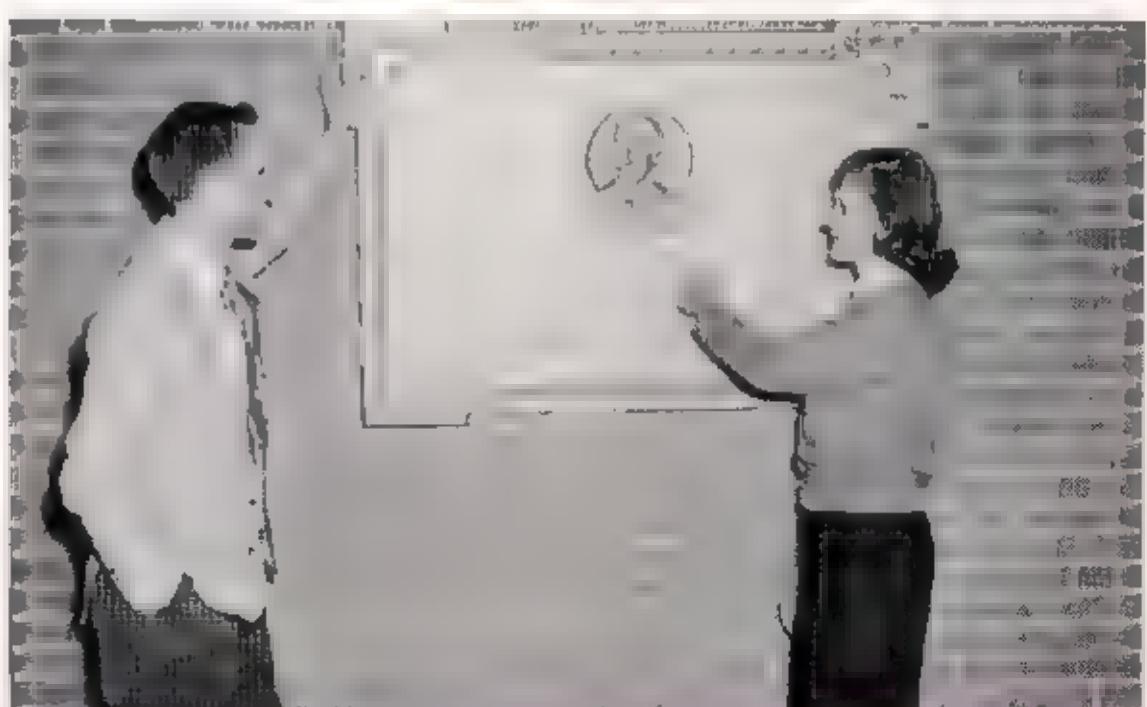

Another senior to win school acclaim was Diane Stevens, winner of the Oratorical contest at L.H.

Turning to our dramatically talented seniors, we put on "Outward Bound" on March 21 and 22. Noting four new faces on the stage, we applauded the talent of Judy Doran, Barry Farnham, Liz Gautreau, and Ralph Server. Pat Tessmer was General Chairman.

Looking ahead to the future, we elected by unanimous ballot, George Houlihan as chairman of Class Night, and Barry Farnham, chairman of Class Banquet. With this, the trying on of caps and gowns spelled out G-r-a-d-u-a-t-i-o-n. Soon we'd have our diplomas in our hands and realize all the fun and valuable experience gained by our four years at L.H.H.S. We will all take our separate paths which eventually will lead to our individual, chosen professions. We realize, therefore, that L.H.H.S. has been a preparation for the future and that graduation is "Not the end but the beginning."

CLASS WILL

We, the Senior Class of Lyman Hall High School, being of confused mind and bewildering character, do hereby ordain and establish in the year of our Lord one thousand, nine hundred, and fifty-eight this, our Last Will and Testament.

We, the Class of '58, leave to Miss Kennedy, Mr. Fernald, and Mr. Stevens our thanks for aiding us in our quest for knowledge and life's experiences.

We, the first graduating class of the new Lyman Hall High School, leave in the care of the underclassmen the good examples, high standards, and traditions, which we have set for them.

Some of us who are more richly endowed wish to bequeath the following:

I, Dave Engstrom, alias "Peach," president of the senior class, leave my duties to the incoming chief executive.

I, Janet Morin, leave my popularity, pep, and perseverance to the next senior class queen.

I, Barry Farnham, leave the occupancy of president of the Student Council to any person willing to undertake the responsibility and do it well.

We, Pat Mulvey, Deanna Dominello, Carole Rudolph, Betty Sommers, Martha Rose, and Janet Morin, leave our pep and agility to next year's varsity cheerleaders so that they may lead the team on to victory.

We, Bill Gannon and Bob Popovich, bequeath to Don Warzocha, Jim Bilyak, and Don Curtis, next year's football tri-captains, our athletic prowess.

I, Deanna Dominello, leave my wardrobe of clothes and neat appearance to next year's Miss Vogue.

We, Martha Rose and Bruce Rudolph, leave our blushing and shy manner to Joyce Regan and Gene Valenti.

We, Pat Mulvey and John Brija, leave our cuteness to Sue Tremper and Mike McGuire.

I, Charles Swenberg, leave my rocket experimentations with Dave Gay, Bill Bayne, and Neill Buckley.

We, Eleanor Thurrott and Robert Kaprinski, leave our high I.Q.'s to next year's geniuses.

I, Dick Grana, leave my uncanny basketball eye and golden arm to Jim Potter.

I, Kathleen Rizzo, leave my job as editor of the Chronicle to anyone who can do the job well.

We, Paul Lacroix, Ronald Curcio, John DesJardins, and Dick DiMauro, leave our date books to next year's Romeos.

We, Bob Gerace, Charlie White, and Tom Satton, leave our golfing abilities to next year's Bob Hogans.

We, Jane and Joan Watson, leave to all teachers the art of telling any future twins apart.

We, Elaine Quinn and Peter Ohr, leave our witty outbursts to Michelina Bodnar and Don Nitz.

We, Gail Worthington and Joe Alves, leave our rollicking laughter to next year's jolliest.

I, Ray Ross, leave my rolls of film to any future "shutterbug."

We, Ray Whitney, Charlie Righton, Don Touchette, Tony Lentine, Robert Valentine, and Doug Brown, leave all the teachers in peace and quiet.

We, Sally Stevens and Alan Drescher, leave our courteous manner to Mauriann Parmelee and Frank Aquilera.

We, "Champ" Battis and Joe Wilkinson, leave our baseball abilities to next year's Mickey Mantle and Ted Williams.

We, Nancy Griffith, Judy Post, Miriam Bailey, Claudet McPherson, and Geraldine Gryga, leave our worn out gym suits to the rag man.

I, Liz Gautreau, leave my singing ability to next year's Patti Page.

We, Craig Self, Bill Nehez, Gordie Bentley, Tom Lacey, Dave Briggs, and Pete Jacinski, leave our L.H. jackets to all future letter men.

We, Rosemary Gannon and Gene Sullivan, leave our figure and physique to Valerie Rondina and Frank Nagy.

We, Pauline Farone, Sally Zielenski, Gloria Gdovin, Marion Melillo, and Jackie Egan, leave a pair of shower curtains to cover the blushing faces of future Senior girls.

We, Pat Tessmer and Bob Asman, leave to next year's Kathryn Hepburn and Spencer Tracy our cues, lines, and acting abilities.

We, Angela Smith and George Houlahan, leave our musical technique to Gary Sebastian and Carol Swenberg.

We, Louie Czaja and Art Cella, will a pair of stilts to next year's little men.

We, Rosemary Dichello, Jane Beckley, Karen Tomassetti, Adele Terapane, Geraldine Russillo, Sally Smith, and Betty Warzeniak, do so bequeath our carefree ways to the junior girls who like to live a happy-go-lucky life.

We, Frances Czechowski, Judith Doran, Audrey Gnudi, Bonnie Maslowski, and Barbara Rosick leave our seats in the band to next year's hopefuls.

Thus being completed and wisely thought through,

We hereby declare the above to be true.

Janet Morin and Barry Farnham.

HEARTY CONGRATULATIONS TO THE SENIOR CLASS
as well as

To those graduates of Lyman Hall and Porter School whose record in industry brings both schools pride

Inquiries from 1958 graduates will be welcome at:

To the Class of 1958

Our heartiest congratulations and warm good wishes to you on the successful completion of your high school career.

For more than 87 years, since the first establishment of a high school in Wallingford, graduates have been bringing their initiative and their talents to Wallace Silversmiths.

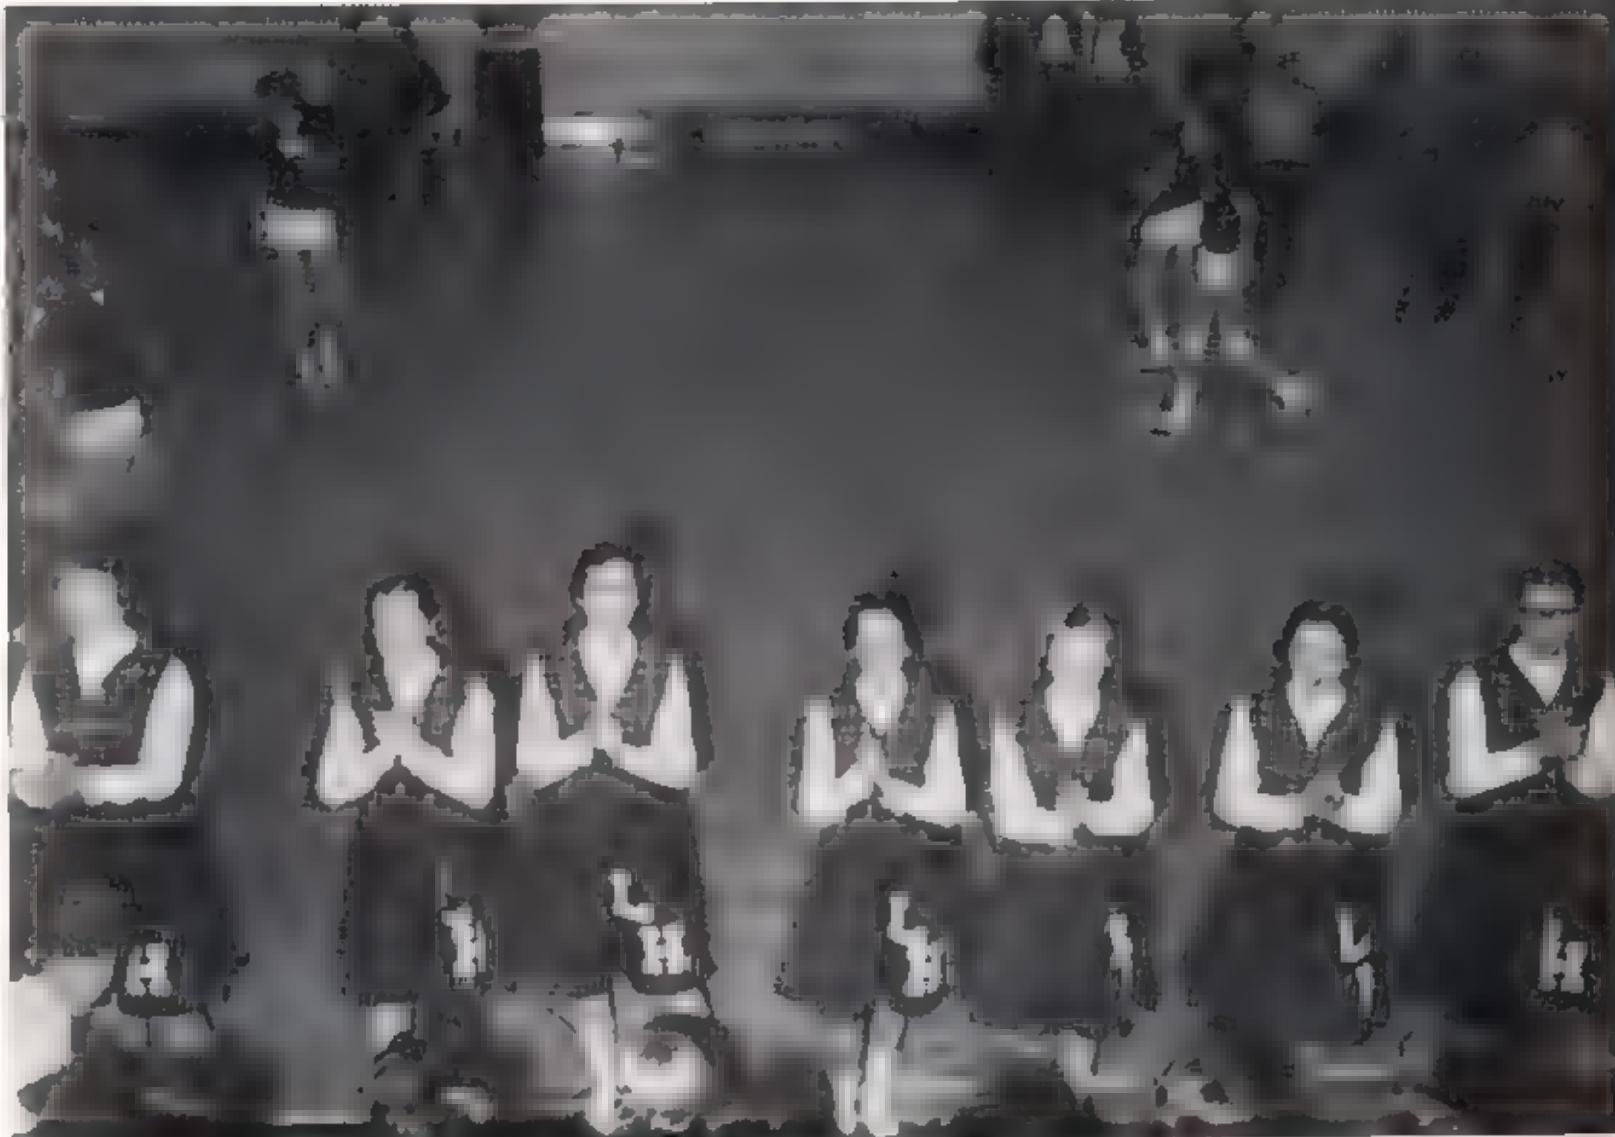

The help and inspiration provided by graduates of the original Wallingford High School and of Lyman Hall have been recognized as important factors in the growth of Wallace.

It is our fond hope that they will continue to contribute to the progress of the Wallace organization in the years to come.
